Evaluation: Lavendar has a terrific all-around game - including a soft jump shot out to 20 feet. What stands out the most about him though is his savvy and unselfishness. There are many times when he could force the issue and create his own shot, however, he makes the extra pass for an easier scoring opportunity. He is deceptively quick and has quite a burst in the open court to get by would-be defenders. He is explosive enough to dunk and can use either hand to score. He has a solid handle, though he still needs to polish up his left hand. He should be one of the top five shooting guards in the west in the Class of 2008.

Notes: He was offered a scholarship from Arizona...
